Grantsmanship training program coming to Rochester Hills June 13 – June 17

TROY, MI – Community Housing Network and Leader Dogs for the Blind are co-hosting the the Grantsmanship Training Program®, widely recognized as the “gold standard” of grant proposal training. This one-of-a-kind workshop will be held June 13-17, 2016 at the Leader Dogs for the Blind headquarters in Rochester Hills, MI.

This program is offered by the The Grantsmanship Center (TGCI), the world’s oldest and largest fund development training organization. Since 1972, TGCI has trained more than 125,000 staff members of nonprofit and government agencies around the world.

Designed for both novice and advanced grantseekers, the Grantsmanship Training Program is a hands-on learning experience that covers all aspects of researching grants, writing grant proposals, and negotiating with funding sources. During this intensive, five-day workshop, you will learn TGCI’s groundbreaking proposal writing format, the most widely used such format in the world. You will also learn how to locate new funding sources for your organization and you will work with a team to prepare an actual proposal for funding.

Upon completion of the workshop, graduates receive a full year of free follow-up services through the exclusive TGCI Membership Program. These include professional proposal review and access to TGCI’s comprehensive online databases of foundation, corporate and government funding sources.

Tuition for this top-quality training program is $995.00, and a $100 early bird discount is available if registered and paid by May 2, 2016. (A limited number of half-tuition scholarships are available for organizations with annual budgets of less than $500,000.)

To ensure personalized attention, enrollment is limited to 30 participants. TGCI workshops often fill to capacity, and early enrollment is encouraged. To register, or to apply for a scholarship, contact The Grantsmanship Center directly at (800) 421-9512 or enroll online
